SUMMER 2003

Greetings all!

It's summertime again and here at Citywest we have already celebrated the summer with our first barbeque held in early July at Riverwalk; it was a great success and judging by the feedback received, it was enjoyed by all.

We hope to build on the theme of greater social interaction between companies and people on campus by fostering a campus-wide Sports & Social Club. There are in excess of 5000 people working at Citywest and with a large "customer base" we should be able to avail of good rates for all pursuits and amenities. Details on back page of who/where to contact should anyone be interested.

We also hope to complete the fitout of an internal lounge area for those of you who would like a sandwich at lunch away from behind the desk, but without necessarily visiting the cafe. More details later.

In the meantime, enjoy the summer and get out and about around the campus; there is plenty of open, landscaped space for all to enjoy the summer sunshine during those precious hours away from work.

summer at citywest

Citywest came alive to the sounds and smells of summer on Thursday, 10 July with a barbeque hosted by Citywest at Riverwalk.

An attendance of approximately 250 enjoyed great barbeque food, a free bar, and live jazz music provided by the Guinness Jazz Band. The weather gods looked on favourably with a glorious summers evening with plenty of sunshine, allowing all to enjoy the open air and the landscaped surroundings of Riverwalk with its decked area and waterfalls.

A relaxed atmosphere provided people with an ideal opportunity to interact with others working on the campus and to develop a sense of community; hopefully this can be developed going forward to provide more social interaction between companies and people on campus.

We have received a lot of positive feedback with the inevitable question of "when is the next BBQ?" Watch this space ...

The South County has deservedly been acclaimed as one of Ireland's finest parkland courses. A spectacular tract of golfing land comprised of undulating terrain, flowing streams and mature trees has provided Dr. Nick Bielenberg, the course designer, with the ultimate setting for his latest creation.

The stylish clubhouse which is built into the hillside, enjoys panoramic views of the course and surrounding countryside and offers top quality changing and catering facilities along with a fully stocked pro shop.

sports and social club

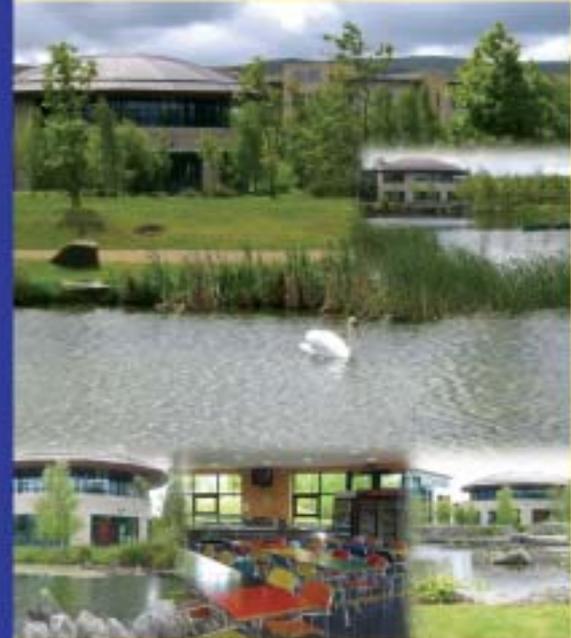

We recently sent an email to all companies on campus in relation to a campus-wide sports and social club. Some companies have responded and are prepared to volunteer some of their staff time to help organise events. Initially, we envisage a golf society, five-a-side league between companies, and possibly hill walking/hiking.

If anyone is interested in getting involved, please contact Tanya at Citywest Marketing Suite on 466 0160 or tanya@davyhickey.ie

citywise project for tallaght

Citywise is a not-for-profit organisation that provides educational support to young people living in key areas of need. This autumn it will commence building a new education and outdoor centre at the Tallaght end of Fortunestown Way, close to Jobstown Community Centre. The new centre will provide a range of educational and vocational support programmes for up to 500 local youths. Davy Hickey Properties, the developers of Citywest Business Campus, have recently made a donation towards the construction costs.

Citywise operates in six locations around the country including the Falls Road in Belfast and Southill in Limerick. This new venture will be the Flagship Centre for Citywise and will depend a lot on the voluntary commitment of young people working or studying in the wider Tallaght area, according to Mark Hamilton, who is steering the project.

Further information is available from Mark Hamilton at Citywise, 13 Bawnlea Green, Jobstown, Dublin 24, phone 01-462 7588 or email info@citywise.ie
